

Date: 21. May 2026

To whom it may concern,

This letter is to formally confirm that Aditya Mulik was invited as a presenter at PlatformCon 2026, the world's leading conference dedicated to Platform Engineering.

PlatformCon is the largest global platform engineering conference, bringing together thousands of practitioners, leaders, and experts from across the technology industry. Hosted annually, the conference has earned international recognition as the premier gathering for the platform engineering community. To maintain the conference's standing, sessions are carefully reviewed and selected to ensure they provide high-quality, cutting-edge insights that advance the field.

Mr. Mulik's talk, titled We Ship It, Then It Lies: A Production LLM Survival Guide, was selected for presentation at PlatformCon 2026 after our rigorous peer review and curation process. His presentation was evaluated based on its relevance, originality, and contribution to the community; it was not promotional or marketing content. His selection to speak at our conference confirms his recognized leadership and achievements in his field.

We are pleased to confirm Mr. Mulik's contribution to PlatformCon 2026 and recognize his expertise and professional standing within the global community. He is welcome to reference this letter and his participation in his professional materials.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Eskil Zachø Steffensen".

Eskil Zachø Steffensen
Head of Operations
Platform Engineering